Per SSSA Bylaws, Article XI. Publications:

SECTION 1. The Society shall publish an official technical journal periodically, which shall carry papers, official notices, committee reports and other items of Society business. This journal shall be known as Soil Science Society of America Journal.

The editor-in-chief and journal editors shall be nominated by the president, following an open call for volunteers for this position published in the official newsletter of the society, and confirmed by the board of directors. The appointments shall be for a 3-year period and may be renewed once but not twice without an intervening 3-year period. The appointments may be terminated at any time by two-thirds majority vote of the entire voting members of the board of directors. The appointment, term, and renewal process for journal editorial board members must be ratified by the board of directors.

Copies of appointment letters must be forwarded to the SSSA Headquarters Office.

Before an Editor is reappointed to a second three-year term, he/she is asked by the appropriate society Editor-in-Chief if he/she agrees to serve another term. Technical Editors and others will be contacted to determine whether the current Editor has support to continue in the position and whether there are any concerns. The Editor-in-Chief then makes a recommendation to the society Board of Directors, who make the final approval. If the Editor has completed two terms of service (six continuous years), does not desire to serve a second term, is terminated or non-renewed based upon action by the Board of Directors, or is unable to continue to serve for any reason, then an open call article will be published in CSA News. In some cases, an Interim Editor may be appointed by the Editor-in-Chief after approval of the Board of Directors. After the closing date published in the open call article, the Editor-in-Chief and the Executive Committee will review the applicants and make a recommendation to the Board of Directors for final approval.

The Editor-in-Chief and journal editors shall be nominated by the president, following an open call for volunteers for this position published in the official newsletter of the society, and confirmed by the board of directors.
