Officer Spotlight

Kathryn (Kat) Rocha- President

Kat is a Johnstown, Colorado native who loves all things outdoors. She enjoys shooting sports, swimming, hiking, and riding horses. She currently attends Colorado State University. Her dream job is farming, but she aspires to make a career as an agronomist. One of her career goals is to make agriculture more transparent to consumers and build up the reputation of the agriculture industry. Kat has a passion for educating others about agriculture; as a matter of fact, if she had the choice she'd start a nonprofit for agriculture education of our nation's youth. Her mission as president of SASES has been to unite SASES members- her goal is to connect with clubs involved with SASES and cultivate a sense of community with members.

SASES Spring Meeting

April 20-22, 2017 will be held at South Dakota State University

Joke of the Month

What grows under your nose?

Tulips!

Club Spotlight: Iowa State Agronomy Club

Iowa State Agronomy Club is active in their community in more than one way. The club is responsible for a stretch of highway a few miles away from campus that they clean up twice per year (pictured top right). The club has other traditions such as planting tulips in front of Agriculture Hall (pictured middle right) and participating in a STEM night at a local elementary school, where they teach youth about different products agronomic crops are used for and also do an interactive germinating activity (pictured bottom right).

Is your club doing super cool things? Has your club competed in a contest, attended a conference, taken a cool trip, or even held a fundraiser? Send me pictures of them doing these things and more! Send pictures with a caption to Grace Ogden at gflusche@okstate.edu.
